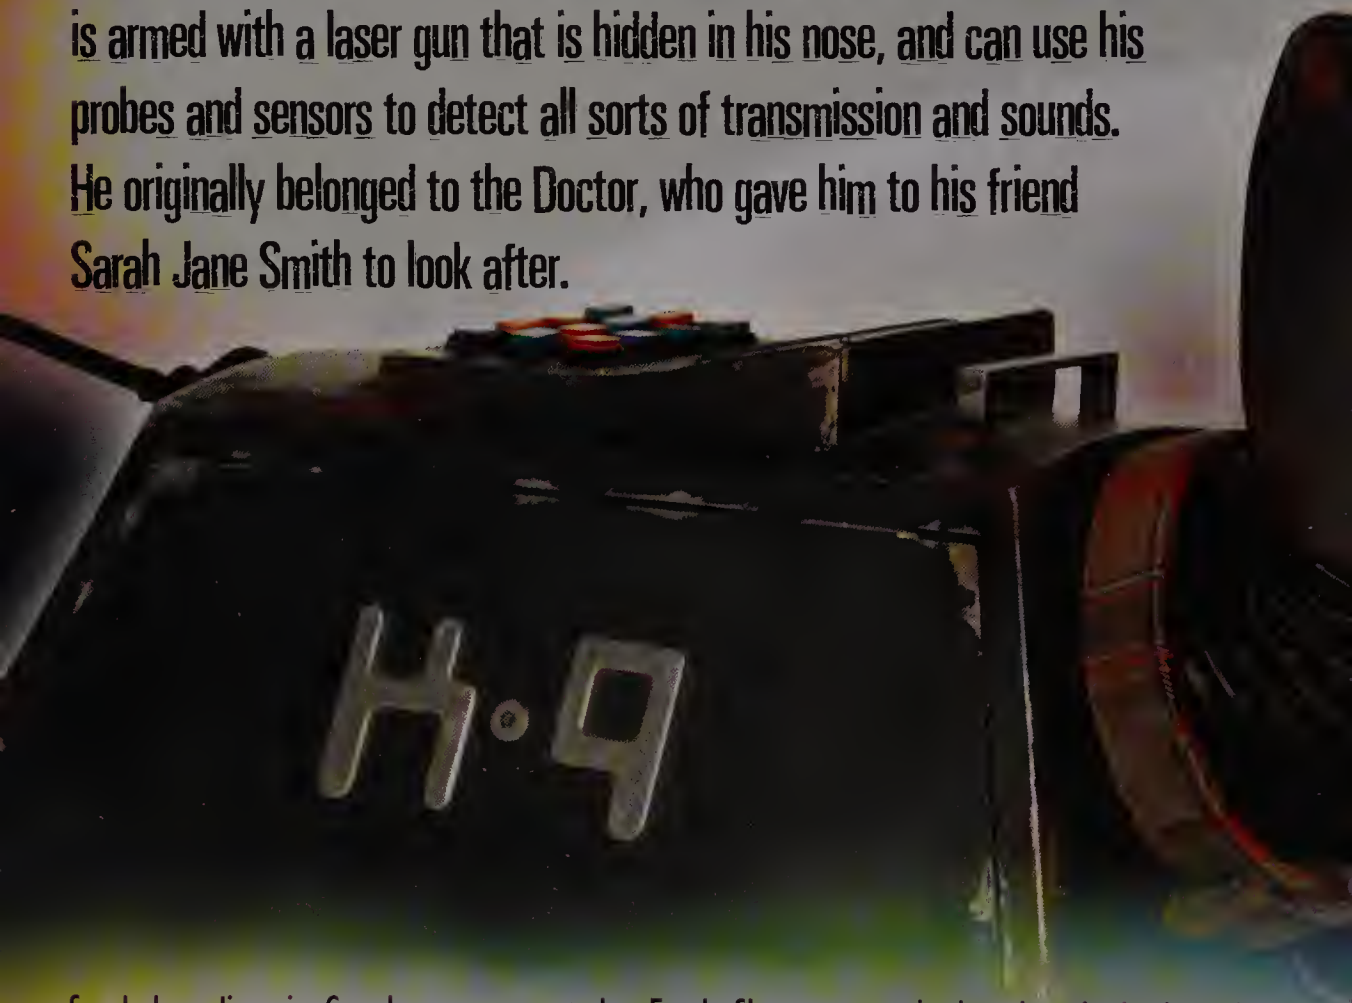
MEET K-9

K-9 is a robot dog, originally designed in the year 5,000. He has an incredibly powerful computer for his brain, and talks in a high-pitched voice. K-9 is armed with a laser gun that is hidden in his nose, and can use his probes and sensors to detect all sorts of transmission and sounds. He originally belonged to the Doctor, who gave him to his friend Sarah Jane Smith to look after.



Sarah Jane lives in Croydon on present day Earth. She was surprised and excited when she found the Doctor had left K-9 for her as a present – it meant he had not forgotten all the adventures they had together in time and space. Sarah Jane and K-9 travelled with the Doctor at different times, so they had never met before. But they had lots of adventures together, including having to defeat a group of people involved in black magic in Gloucestershire.

But as time went on, K-9 began to wear out. Since he was a robot from the future, Sarah Jane couldn't just go and buy spare parts for him, or take him to be repaired. So gradually, K-9 stopped working. Then one day, when Sarah Jane was investigating a strange school with creepy teachers who turned out to be aliens, she met the Doctor again. He had changed his appearance, but it was still the same Doctor. So he repaired K-9 and he was even better than ever.

K-9'S FRIENDS

THE DOCTOR

A long time ago, K-9 used to travel through time and space with the Doctor in his TARDIS and they had many adventures together. The Doctor is the last of the Time Lords, a powerful race who were destroyed in the Time War. A Time Lord can save himself from death by changing every cell in his body – this is called regeneration. Since K-9 travelled with the Doctor, he has been forced to regenerate several times so he now looks quite different. But K-9 knew at once who he was when they met again and the Doctor repaired him.

SARAH JANE SMITH

Sarah Jane used to travel with the Doctor too, but that was before the Doctor met K-9. By then, Sarah Jane had already gone home and was carrying on with her job as a journalist. But one day she found the Doctor had left her a present in a crate in the attic. When she opened the crate, she found K-9 inside, and knew at once that he was from the Doctor. Sarah Jane was rather surprised to be given a robot dog from the future, but she and K-9 became great friends and had many adventures of their own.

ROSE TYLER

Rose travels with the Doctor now, just like Sarah Jane and K-9 used to long ago. She met Sarah Jane and K-9 when they all investigated the same strange school where odd things were happening. Rose's friend Mickey discovered there were lots of UFOs seen in the area and it turned out some of the teachers had been replaced by aliens! At first, Sarah Jane and Rose did not get along too well, as they were each jealous of the other's friendship with the Doctor. But they are now the best of friends and Rose is very fond of K-9 too.

MICKEY SMITH

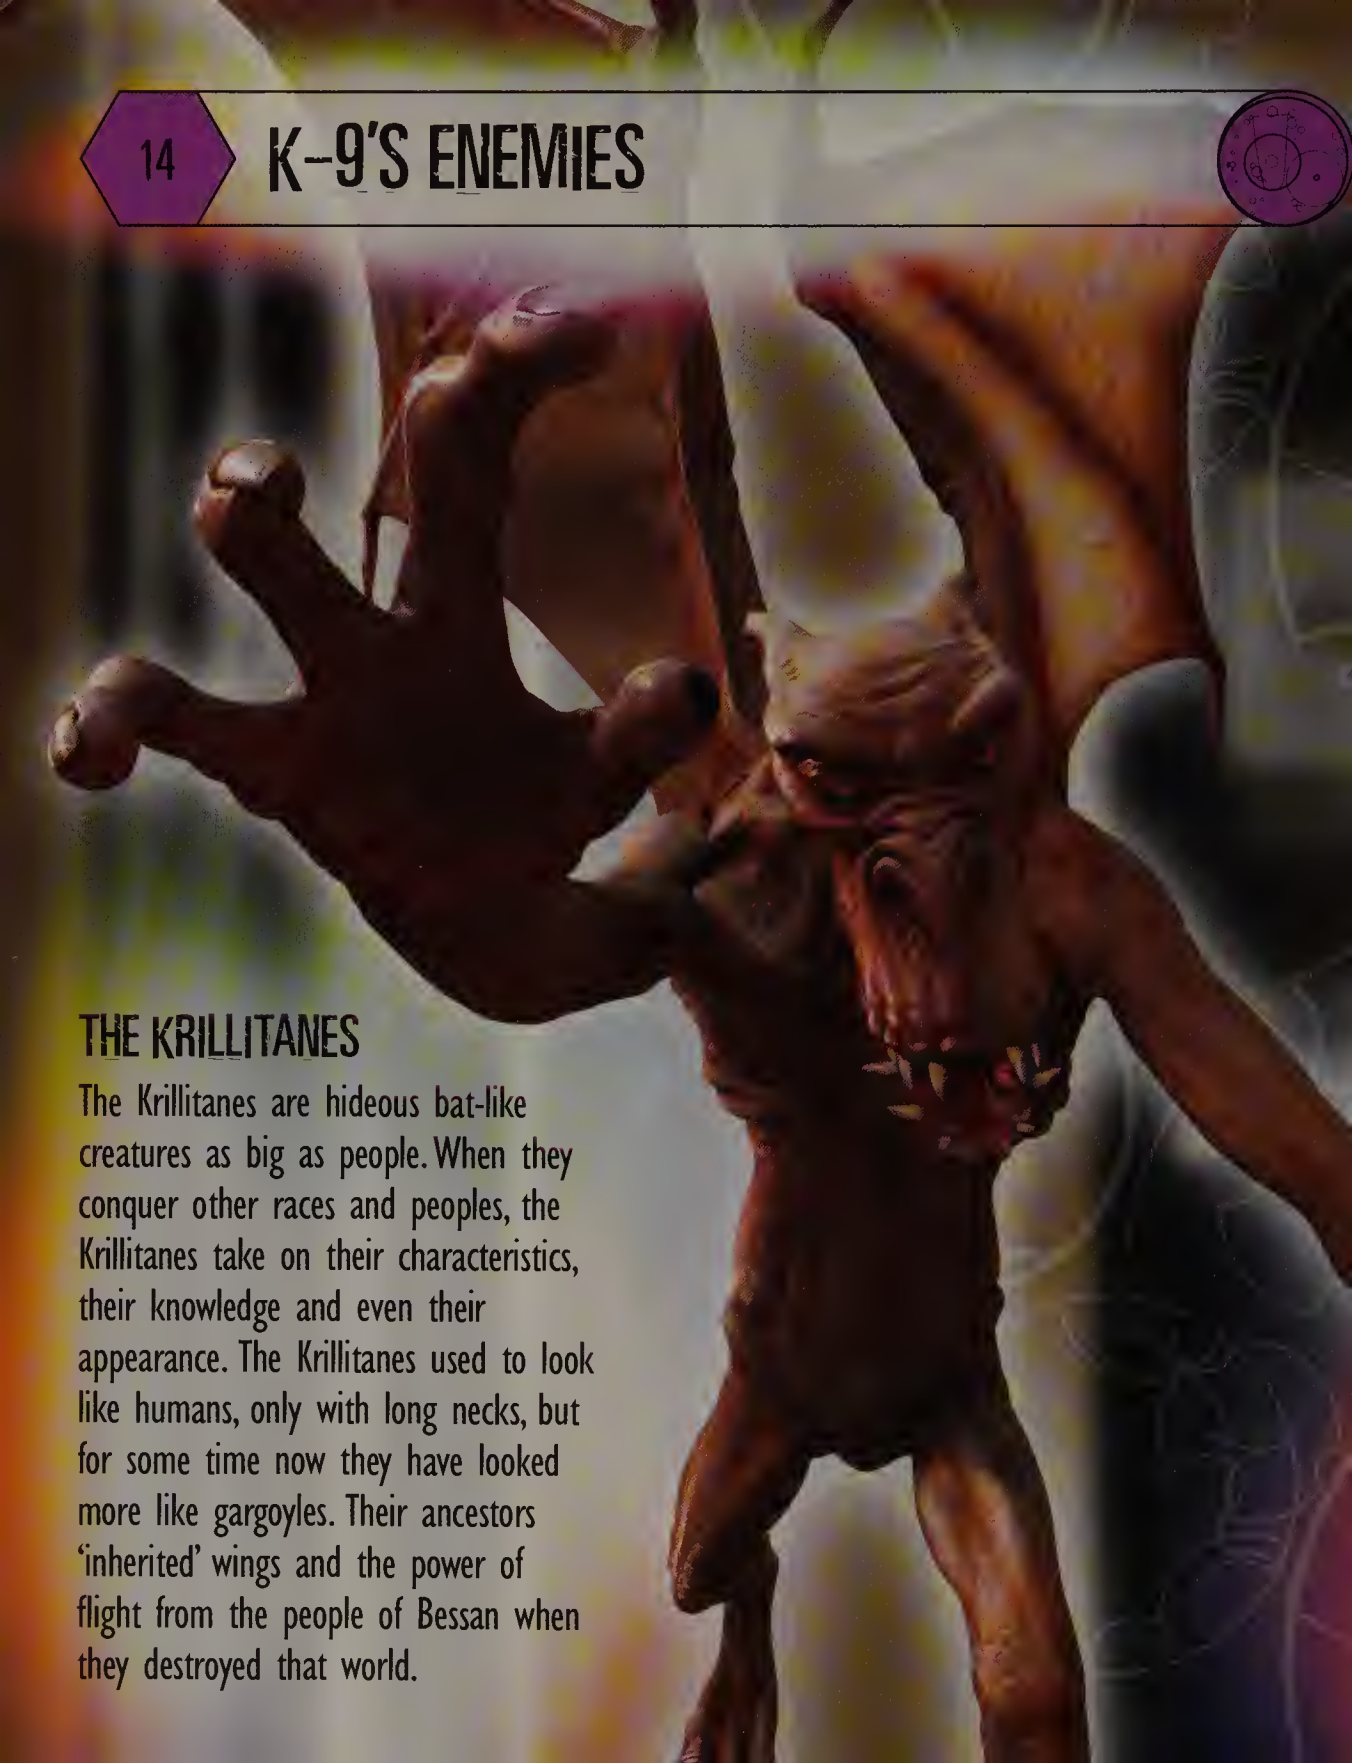
No relation to Sarah Jane Smith, Mickey is a friend of Rose and the Doctor. He is a whiz with computers and the Internet, and met K-9 when they worked together investigating the strange events at the school. Mickey thought the robot dog was really cool, and with K-9's help, Mickey broke into the school to save the children from the alien Krillitanes.

1. WHEN DID K-9 AND SARAH JANE MEET THE DOCTOR, ROSE AND MICKEY?
A. When they investigated a mystery at a school
B. When the TARDIS landed in Croydon
C. When they were at the local shops buying milk

2. WHERE DID SARAH JANE FIND K-9?
A. In the TARDIS
B. In a crate in the attic
C. At the supermarket

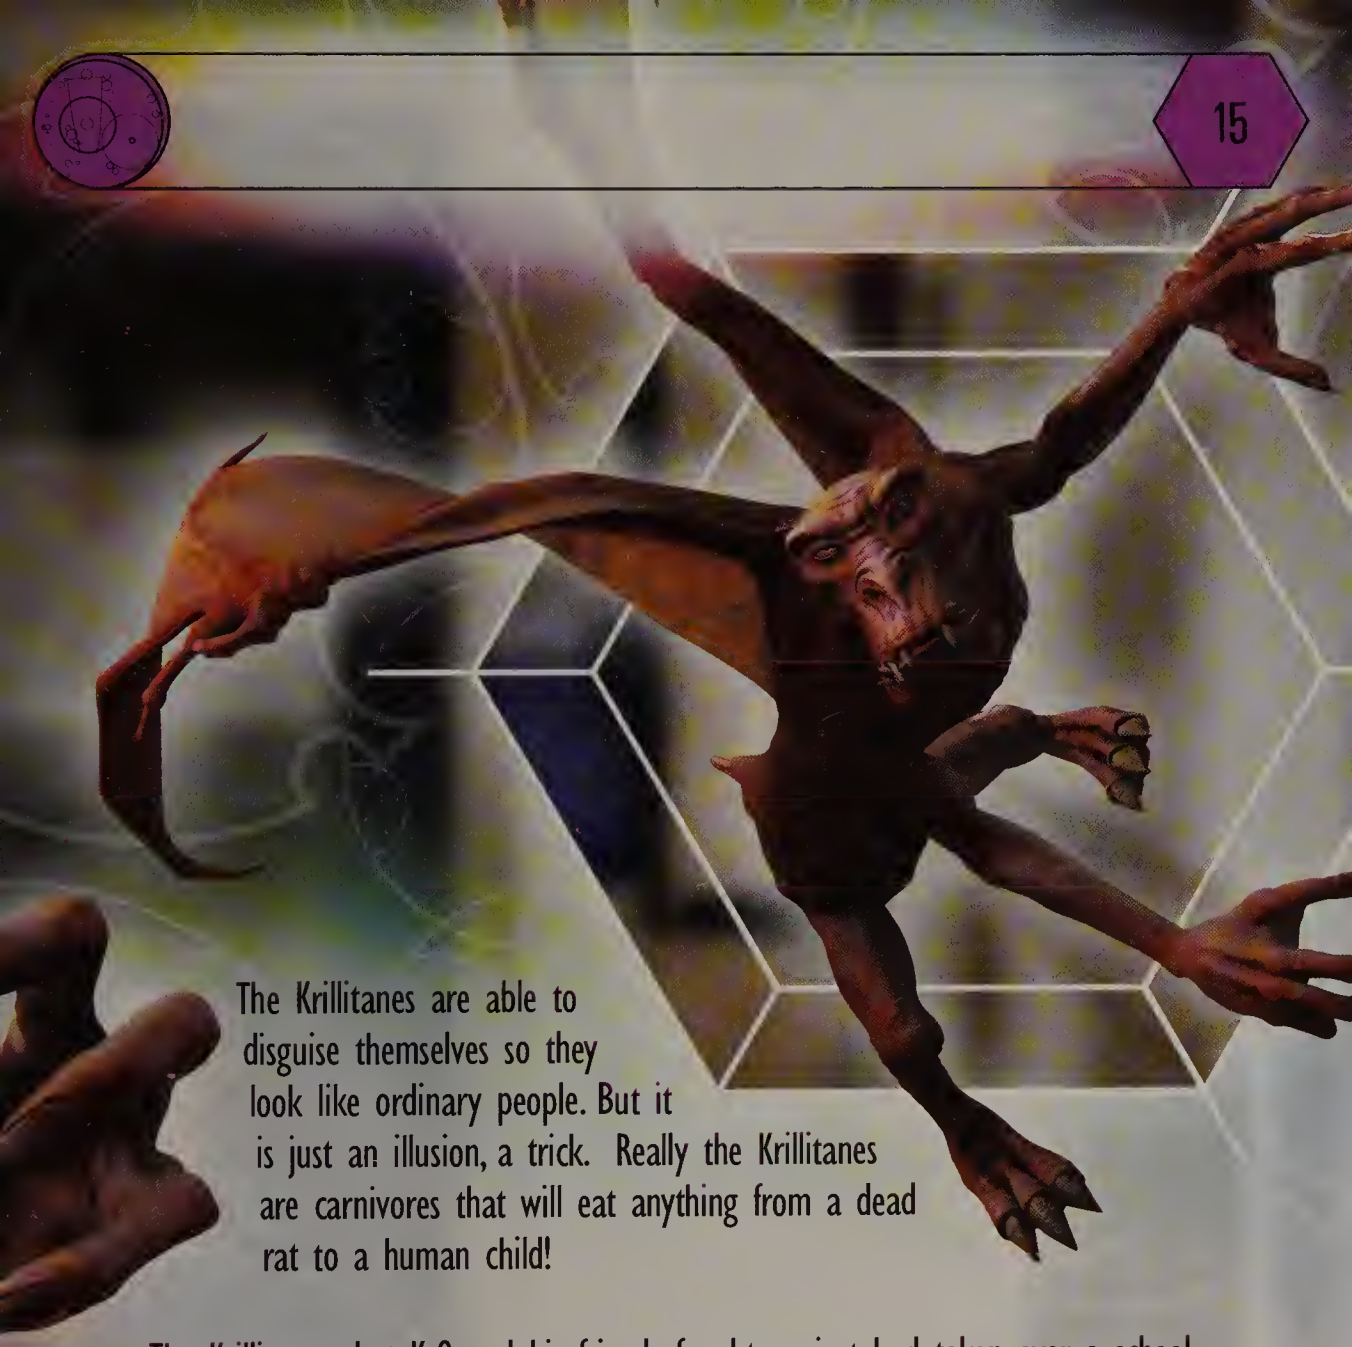
3. WHO IS MICKEY SMITH?
A. The school caretaker
B. A friend of the Doctor and Rose
C. Sarah Jane Smith's brother

4. WHAT IS SARAH JANE'S JOB?
A. Teacher
B. Police officer
C. Journalist



THE KRILLITANES

The Krillitanes are hideous bat-like creatures as big as people. When they conquer other races and peoples, the Krillitanes take on their characteristics, their knowledge and even their appearance. The Krillitanes used to look like humans, only with long necks, but for some time now they have looked more like gargoyles. Their ancestors 'inherited' wings and the power of flight from the people of Bessan when they destroyed that world.



The Krillitanes are able to disguise themselves so they look like ordinary people. But it is just an illusion, a trick. Really the Krillitanes are carnivores that will eat anything from a dead rat to a human child!

The Krillitanes that K-9 and his friends fought against had taken over a school by disguising themselves as teachers and dinner ladies. The headmaster was really the Krillitanes leader. They were making the children really clever by cooking the chips for school dinners in special oil, which made people brainier. They wanted the children to work out a formula to solve the Skasas Paradigm, which would give the Krillitanes power over the whole universe. But K-9's friend the Doctor found out what was happening and they stopped the Krillitanes.

MR FINCH

When the head teacher of the school had to leave suddenly, a new head teacher arrived. He was called Mr Finch. But he was actually the leader of the Krillitanes and his real name was Brother Lassar.

The day after Mr Finch's arrival, half the other teachers mysteriously fell ill with very bad flu. They had to be replaced with new teachers, who were all secretly Krillitanes working for Mr Finch.

K-9 and his friends discovered the truth, and the Doctor confronted the aliens. Mr Finch tried to persuade the Doctor that what he was doing was a good thing and that the Doctor could work with the Krillitanes and control the universe and make it a better place. But the Doctor knew that no one should be allowed to have as much power as the Krillitanes hoped to get and, with K-9's help, he destroyed them.

1. WHAT WERE THE ALIENS CALLED WHO DISGUISED THEMSELVES AS TEACHERS?
A. Killkids
B. Krillitanes
C. Chip Eaters

2. WHO DID THE ALIEN LEADER PRETEND TO BE?

B. The school caretaker
C. The music teacher

3. WHAT DID THE ALIENS WANT THE CHILDREN TO DO FOR THEM?
A. Help them with their homework
B. Dance
C. Work out a secret formula

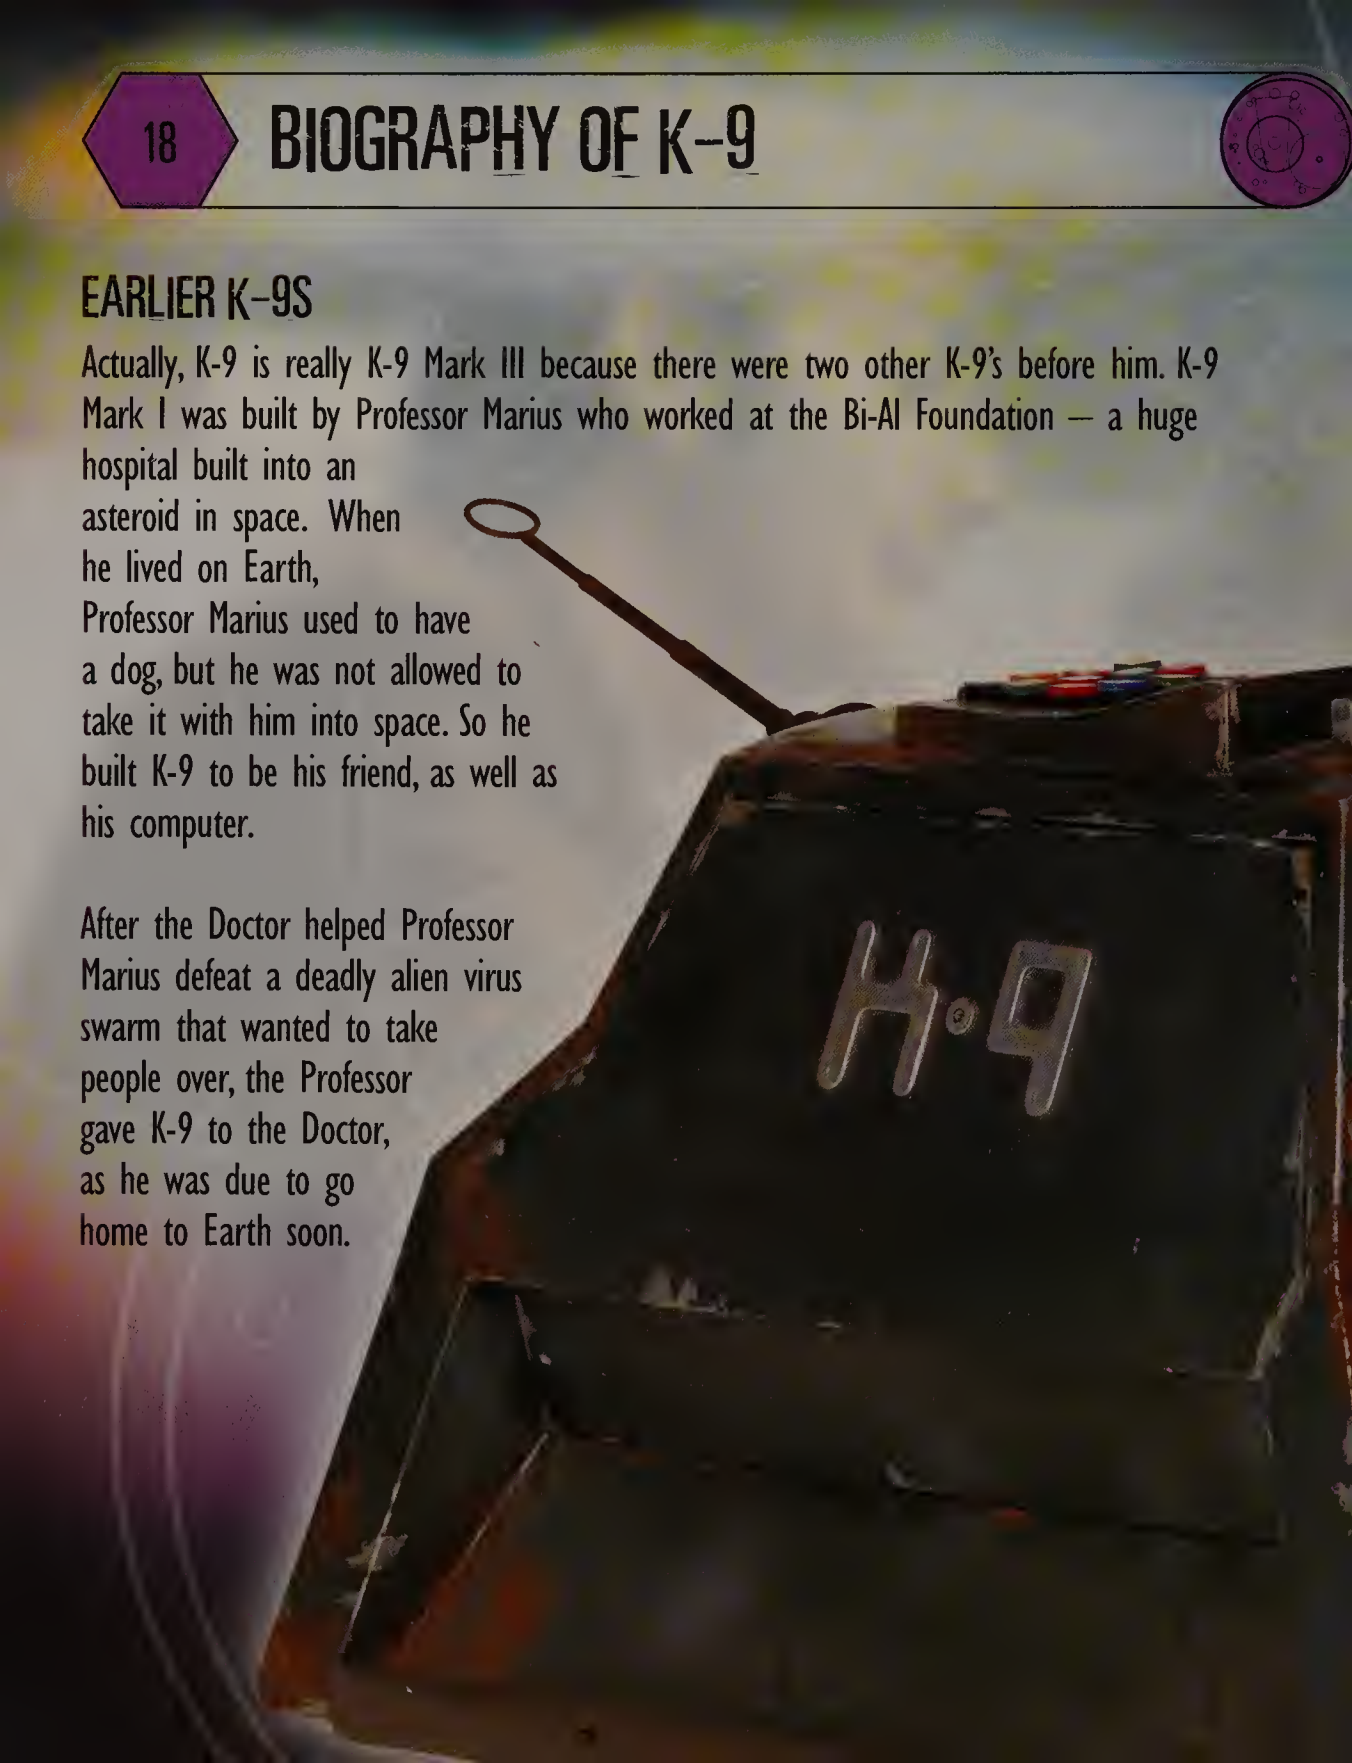
4. WHAT DID THE DOCTOR SAY WHEN THEY OFFERED TO LET HIM HELP RULE THE UNIVERSE?
A. He said it would be a big job and he would need to be paid
B. He refused as no one should have that power
C. He agreed and said he could start on Monday

BIOGRAPHY OF K-9

EARLIER K-9S

Actually, K-9 is really K-9 Mark III because there were two other K-9's before him. K-9 Mark I was built by Professor Marius who worked at the Bi-Al Foundation — a huge hospital built into an asteroid in space. When he lived on Earth, Professor Marius used to have a dog, but he was not allowed to take it with him into space. So he built K-9 to be his friend, as well as his computer.

After the Doctor helped Professor Marius defeat a deadly alien virus swarm that wanted to take people over, the Professor gave K-9 to the Doctor, as he was due to go home to Earth soon.



After many adventures together, K-9 decided to stay on the Doctor's home planet Gallifrey with their friend Leela. So the Doctor built himself another K-9, K-9 Mark II. Again they had lots of adventures, until K-9 was badly damaged by the Time Winds and had to stay with the Doctor's friend Romana, another Time Lord, in a different universe called E-Space where he could work properly.

The Doctor built a third K-9 for himself this time, but he gave this new K-9 to his old friend Sarah Jane Smith, leaving it in a crate for her to find at her Aunt Lavinia's house. Sarah Jane and K-9 became the best of friends, and both were pleased to meet the Doctor again, with his new friends Rose and Mickey.

REPAIRING K-9

There have been lots of times when K-9 has broken down and the Doctor has had to repair him. Once he went into the sea and the water upset his electrical circuits and he blew up! Another time he got a robot version of laryngitis and couldn't speak. He's even been crushed by the alien Ogri, a creature made of stone. On many occasions he has run out of power and had to recharge.

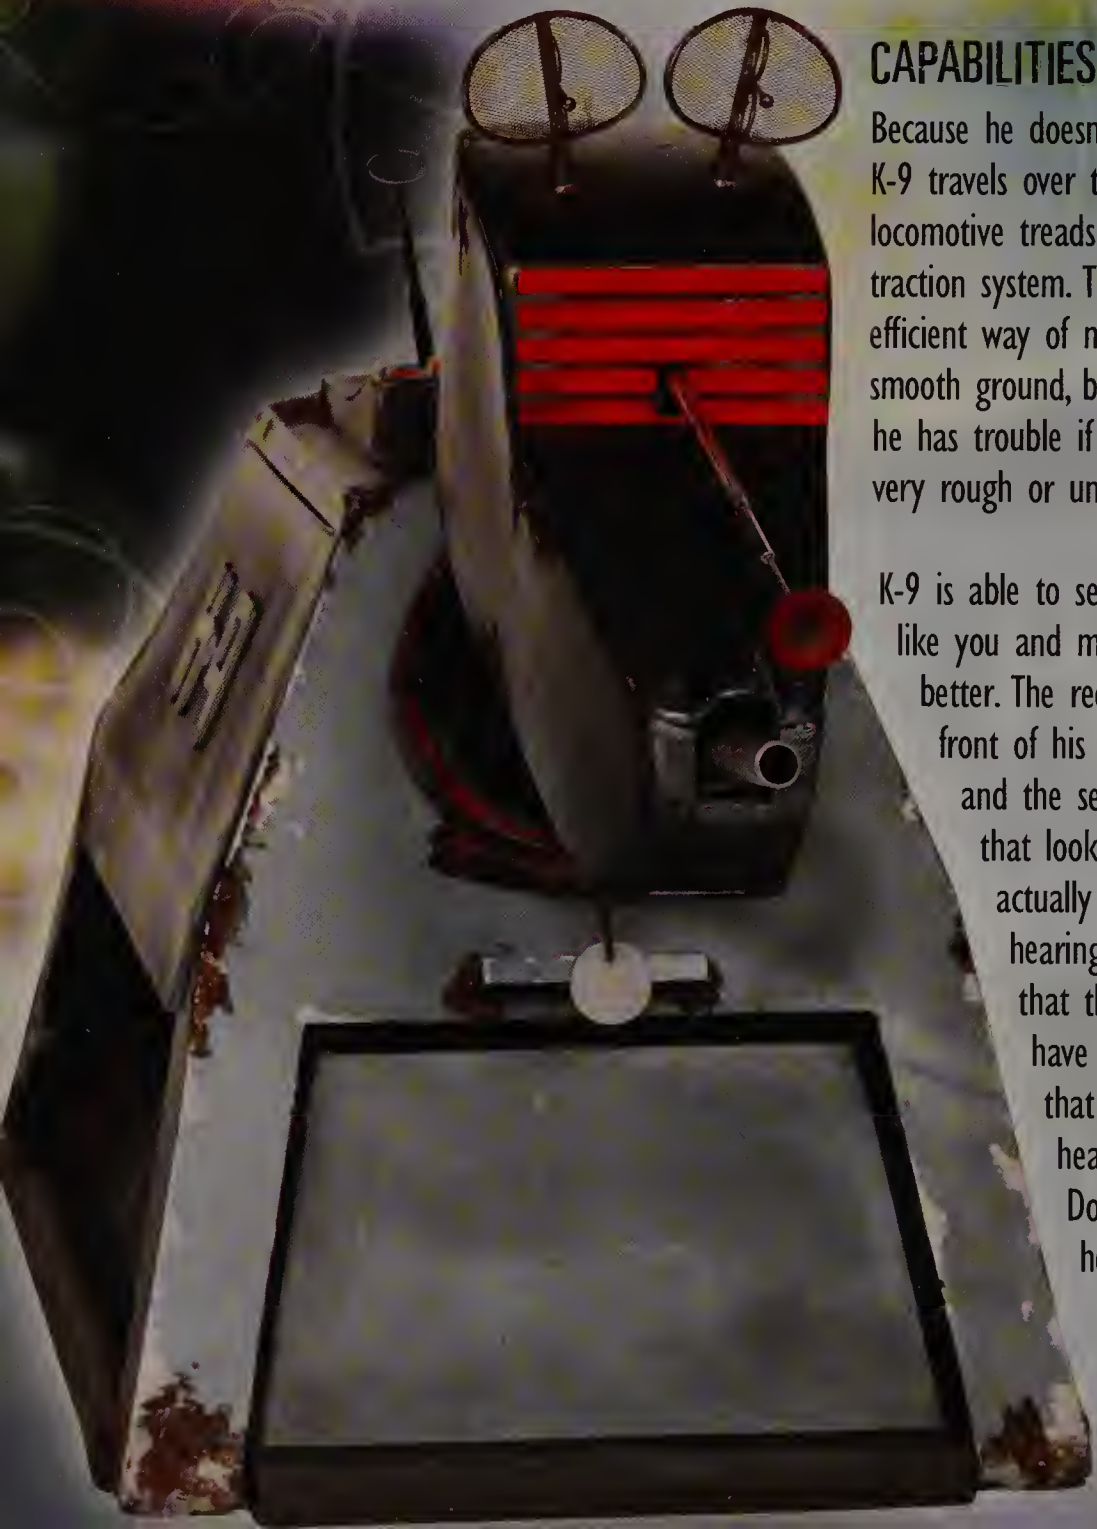
When they travelled together, the Doctor was always there to repair him. But when K-9 was with Sarah Jane on Earth, she had no spare parts and there was nowhere she could go to get a robot dog from the future repaired! After a while, K-9 grew old and broke down.

But when Sarah Jane was investigating mysterious events at a school, she again met the Doctor. She had K-9 with her even though he didn't work properly, and the Doctor was able to repair him.

But to defeat the evil Krillitanes, K-9 had to fire his blaster at explosive Krillitanes oil from close range, and he was caught in the explosion. Sarah Jane was very sad to think K-9 was gone. She was happy and surprised when the Doctor left in the TARDIS and there was K-9 – as good as new. The Doctor had repaired him again and made him even better. K-9 now has omniflexible hyperlink facilities, though Sarah Jane doesn't really know what that means! But she does know that she will have many more adventures with K-9 in the future.

1. WHO ORIGINALLY BUILT K-9?
A. The Doctor
B. The Cybermen
C. Professor Marius

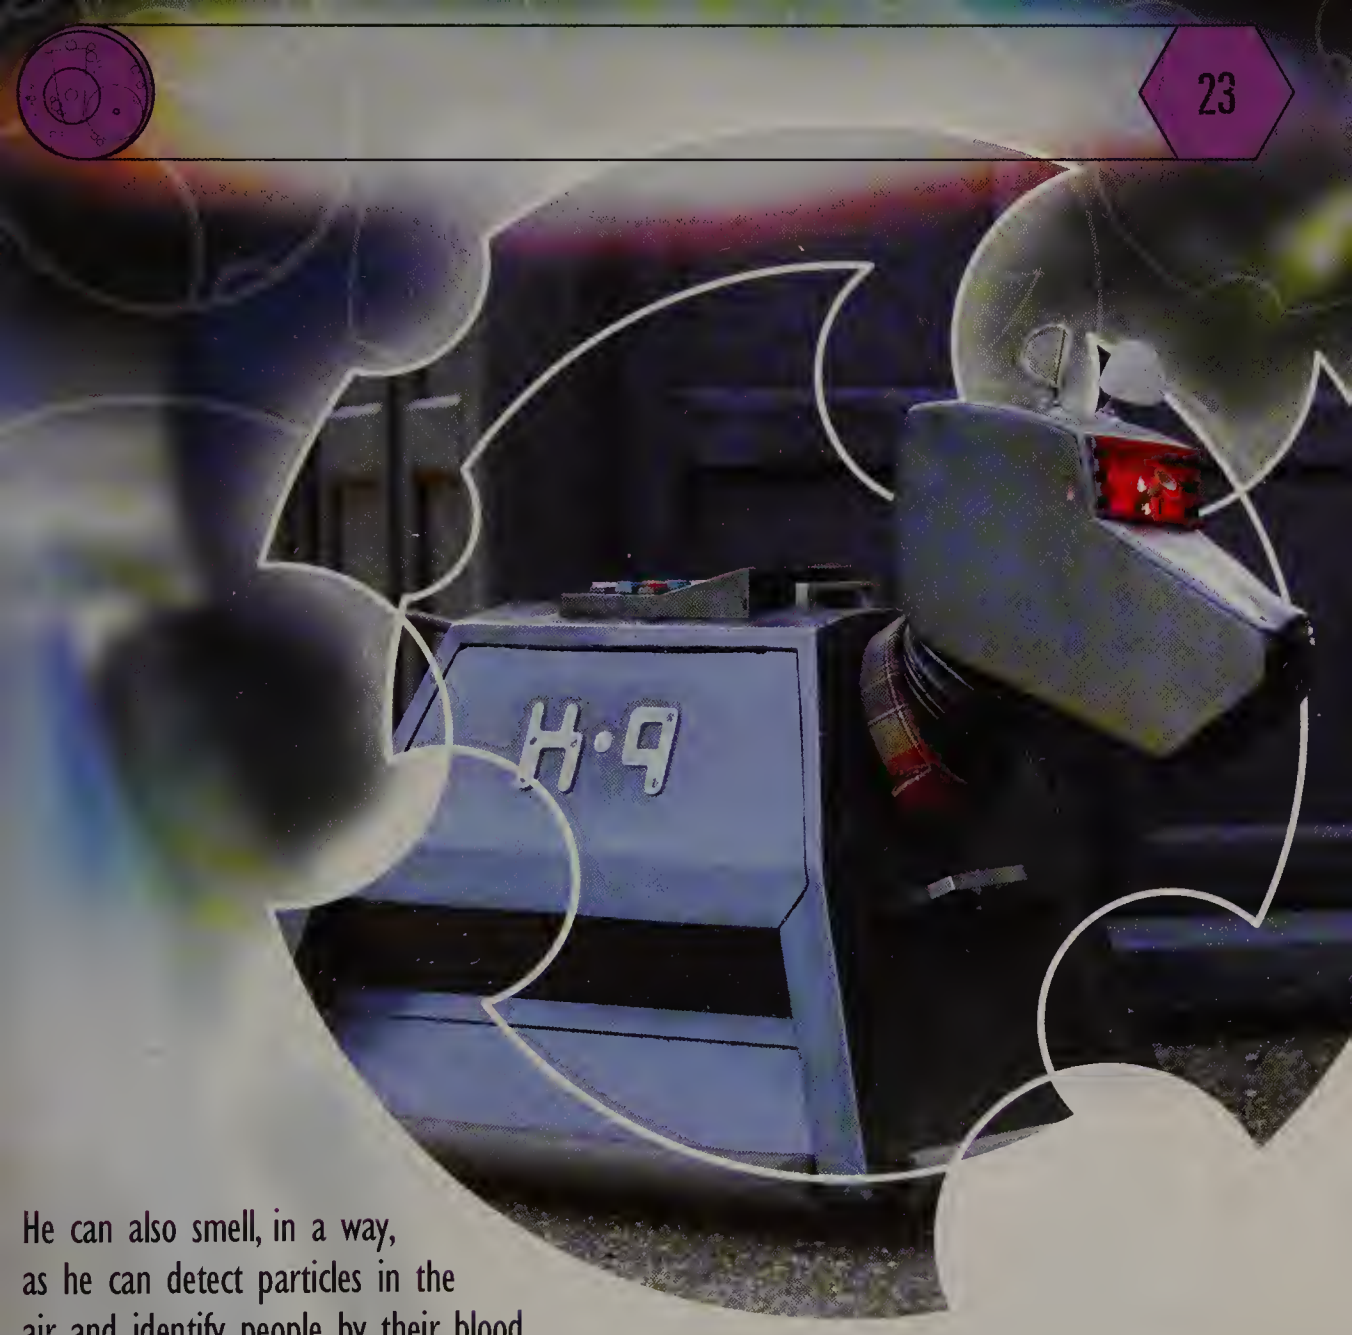
K-9'S TECHNOLOGY



CAPABILITIES

Because he doesn't have legs, K-9 travels over the ground using locomotive treads linked to his traction system. This is a very efficient way of moving over smooth ground, but it does mean he has trouble if the ground is very rough or uneven.

K-9 is able to see and hear just like you and me, only even better. The red panel at the front of his head is his eyes, and the sensors on his head that look like ears do actually detect sound. His hearing is so sensitive that the Doctor used to have a special whistle that only K-9 could hear and which the Doctor blew when he was in trouble.



He can also smell, in a way, as he can detect particles in the air and identify people by their blood, scent, tissue and the alpha-wave patterns of their brains. He can find the Doctor by listening for the distinctive sound of his two hearts beating!

The probe on his head can extend to examine things, or to connect to other computers. Sometimes the circuit controlling this jams, and to reset it someone has to waggle K-9's tail, which is actually a communications aerial.

COMPUTER BRAIN

K-9's brain is an incredibly powerful computer that can analyse data and make decisions very fast. He can interface between other computers and robots and talk to them directly in their own machine language, and he can get information from any computer storage. K-9 is so clever he can even beat the Doctor at chess, and his memory wafers hold details of all chess championship tournaments since 1866. K-9's memory is huge – he remembers everything that happens as well as all the historical and scientific data he has been programmed with. Although, because of a misunderstanding with the Doctor's friend Romana, K-9 has no knowledge at all about tennis!

1. WHAT DOES K-9 USE TO TRAVEL OVER THE GROUND?

A. Legs
B. Locomotive treads
C. Techno-sledge

WEAPONRY

K-9 is equipped with a powerful photon beam blaster that is tucked away inside his nose. It extends when he needs to use it either for defence or attack. The blaster has four different intensity levels. K-9 can use it to cut through solid material like doors or walls, or to stun or even kill people. At its highest setting it can melt rock, but using the blaster quickly drains K-9's power.

As well as his blaster, K-9 is protected by a very strong outer casing. People have used hammers and chisels to try to open him up before now, but without success.

THE ADVENTURES OF K-9

Long before he became Sarah Jane's friend and companion, K-9 travelled with the Doctor in the TARDIS. They had many adventures together, on Earth and on alien planets and even in another universe. The Doctor and K-9 first met when the Doctor was infected by an alien virus, which K-9 and the Doctor's friend Leela helped to defeat. K-9 also helped the Doctor fight tyranny on Pluto in the far future and battle against an evil computer called the Oracle at the very edge of the galaxy. After defeating an invasion of the Doctor's home planet Gallifrey by the warlike Sontarans, K-9 stayed there with Leela.

The Doctor built a new version of K-9 — K-9 Mark II. Together with Time Lady Romana, they found the hidden pieces of the legendary Key to Time. Romana and K-9 shared many more adventures with the Doctor, both in our own universe and an other universe called E-Space. When K-9 was damaged, he had to stay in E-Space with Romana. That was when the Doctor decided to leave a new K-9 Mark III with his friend Sarah Jane Smith on Earth. Sarah and K-9 were at once great friends and they also had many adventures together, although K-9 was getting old and needed repairing.

Then one day, the Doctor came back. Sarah Jane was investigating a school where mysterious things were happening. At first she didn't realise the strange teacher she met was the Doctor. He had regenerated – his whole body changing as a way of cheating death. But soon Sarah Jane found the TARDIS hidden in a cupboard and recognised the Doctor, despite the fact he looked quite different. She showed him the damaged K-9, and the Doctor was able to repair the robot dog. Together with the Doctor's new friends Rose and Mickey, they managed to defeat the alien Krillitanes who had taken over the school.

But the only way to defeat the aliens was to blow up the school. That was K-9's job. He had to fire his blaster into barrels of Krillitanes oil, which is highly inflammable. But after all his help against the aliens, K-9's power was very low. So he had to fire his blaster from very close to the oil, which meant he was caught in the explosion along with the Krillitanes. Sarah Jane and the others thought K-9 had been completely destroyed and were very sad. But the Doctor had secretly managed to repair him, and when the TARDIS left there was K-9, waiting for Sarah Jane. He was as good as new, and ready for more adventures with his friend Sarah Jane Smith.
